

I like instant traffic and weather. Stop trying to regulate everything and let everyone compete based on the merits of their individual products. Competition is good for the consumer -- let local radio stations worry about how they are going to step up their services on their own. Leave me out of it!

Mimi